Rules

1. INTRODUCTION

CINBIO aims to contribute to promoting individuals and institutions that contribute to the advancement and development of science. This recognition extends not only to research activities but also to all related facets that foster and promote research progress, such as management, leadership, knowledge transfer, and science communication. Particularly, the focus lies on the fields of biomedicine and nanomaterials, which are central to the center's scope of action.

The mission of CINBIO, through these event and recognition, is to empower science by acknowledging those individuals who inspire others through their daily contributions.

2. CATEGORIES

The CINBIO Gold Talk event is designed to recognize the efforts of individuals and institutions that drive science forward and inspire others through their work and discourse.

There are two categories:

- CINBIO National Gold talk: This category is intended for individuals or institutions operating at the national level, with an outstanding trajectory and significant involvement in the world of research.
- CINBIO International Gold talk: Reserved for individuals or institutions with an international presence (outside Spain) and a recognized trajectory, demonstrating merit and dedication in their field, significantly contributing to the advancement of science.

The honorees will have the chance to present their "Gold talk" at the awards ceremony, inspiring and showcasing their work to the attendees.

The prize will come with a monetary reward.

3. ELIGIBILITY

The criteria for participation state that any person or institution is eligible to apply if their knowledge, trajectory, or accomplishments have contributed to the advancement of science and research, particularly in the areas of interest and work of CINBIO: biomedicine and nanomaterials.

4. EVALUATION CRITERIA FOR AWARD CATEGORIES

The jury will consider the scientific and technical trajectory of the proposed individuals or institutions, as well as the inspirational nature of their contributions to the field of science and research.

Special emphasis will be placed on nominations that have made significant contributions in the following areas:

- Research or management in the fields of biomedicine and nanomaterials
 - Knowledge transfer to society through applications or scientific dissemination
- Innovation

5. SUBMISSION OF NOMINATIONS

All nominations must be submitted through the form available on cinbio.es. The candidates may either self-nominate or be proposed by others.

Each nomination must include the following mandatory sections of the form:

- Name, position, affiliation, and a brief summary of the candidate's trajectory.
- Support letter: Nominations must be endorsed with a brief support letter from the nominator, providing reasons for the nomination. The support letter should not exceed 2 pages in A4 size with a minimum font size of 12 pt.

6. NOMINATION PERIOD

The nomination period is always open. The registration form at <https://cinbio.es> is the only channel for submitting nominations for this award.

The jury's decision will be announced in late September, and the awardees of this edition will be contacted at that time.

7. JURY

The jury is composed of the CINBIO steering committee.

The committee's discussion and voting on the results will be confidential, with only the final decision in each category being made public.

There will be a single awardee per category, and the jury reserves the right to declare either or both categories as unassigned if deemed necessary.

The jury's decision is final and cannot be appealed. The results will be announced on the cinbio.es website and its social media channels at the beginning of October. The awards ceremony will take place between October 15 and November 30.

8. EVENT

The event will be held in the last quarter of the year. The awardees must be present and ready to deliver an inspiring talk lasting a maximum of 20 minutes. This talk should encompass part of their scientific trajectory while inspiring and promoting science at all levels.

The honorees are committed to participating in all activities organized during the event. Moreover, they grant CINBIO the authorization to disseminate all relevant information about them. It is a unique opportunity to recognize talent and boost science.

9. DATA PROTECTION AND USE OF INFORMATION

Compliance with current legal regulations regarding the protection of personal data will be ensured throughout this call. By participating in this call and accepting the award, participants fully accept the established terms and conditions, and the resolution, which will be final and cannot be appealed.

In exceptional and duly justified circumstances, CINBIO reserves the right to make modifications to the terms and conditions, always ensuring that such changes do not entail significant or arbitrary alterations.

It is important to note that submitting a nomination does not exclude the possibility of participating in future editions.

10. ACCEPTANCE AND SPECIAL CONDITIONS

Accepting the recognition implies acceptance of these terms and conditions. CINBIO reserves the right to cancel the current contest, either partially or entirely, without incurring any liability.

The awardees will grant CINBIO and the University of Vigo the rights to use their image and voice free of charge to the maximum extent permitted by law. This authorization aims to facilitate the dissemination of the award ceremony and its outcomes, among other purposes. The formalization of this assignment will take place before the award ceremony.
